

Transparency Statement:

We are committed to providing clear and transparent information about our course offerings. Please note that Course 2142: Image Recognition and Critique is conducted as a distance education course online. This allows students to engage with the course material remotely while concurrently attending Clinical Practice 1 and 2. This structure ensures that students can balance their practical clinical experiences with their academic studies effectively.

While enrolled in Course 2142: Image Recognition and Critique, the instructor is always available to answer any questions from students.
